CHAPTER 2. THE APPSTREAM REPOSITORY

Content in the AppStream repository includes additional user space applications, runtime languages, and databases in support of the varied workloads and use cases.

Certain user space components distributed in the AppStream repository are Application Streams. Application Streams are delivered on a cadence that is suitable for each package, which makes the distribution diversified. Application Streams offer multiple versions of a single package for installation within RHEL 8, which is an improvement over previous methods of making multiple versions of packages available. RHEL 8 also consolidates previous distribution channels to a single place.

Application Streams are available in one of two formats - the familiar RPM format and an extension to the RPM format called modules.

For detailed information on the length of Application Streams support, see the Red Hat Enterprise Linux 8 Application Streams Life Cycle. For information about the other components or packages in the AppStream repository, see the Scope of Coverage Details document.

The following table lists all the packages in the AppStream repository along with their license. For a list of available modules and streams, see Section 2.1, “AppStream modules”.
